This may come as a big shock to you, but MAD is published in six foreign language editions: Swedish, Danish, Dutch, German, Spanish and British! (In Britain, they translate MAD into English!) What? You don't believe it?! Well, here's proof: Read what fans in other countries think of MAD in this random sampling of Foreign Reader Mail!

Nu er det sket, for fremtiden køber jeg kun 2 cksemplarer, der rog jeres Malorca rejse hva', det har i rigtigt godt af. Jeg har prøvet at klage til Ombudsmanden, men han tog ikke imod. #### Werte MAD-Redaktion, ich konnte es nie leiden, wenn die Leute morgens in der Straßenbahn meine Zeitung mitlasen. Also habe ich die Zeitung auf den Kopf gedreht. Meinten die Leute, ich wäre verrückt. Gestern kaufte ich MAD. Ich vergaß in der Straßenbahn, es herumzudrehen, weil es so interessant war. Die Nachbarn lasen mit. Nun meinten sie immer noch, ich wäre verrückt. Gibt es dafür eine Erklärung?

Walter Ernsting, Salzburg Selbstverständlich! Immerhin haben Sie ja MAD gekauft! – Red.

Zoals U kunt begrijpen is Uw blad MAD bij ons op "de R.K.Ob.P.O.H.school voor meisjes van onbesproken gedrag" streng verboden. Toen wij dan ook laatst in de slaapzaal betrapt werden door zuster Triefellia moesten wij eerst allemaal onze handen en monden spoelen met een sterke trichloor oplossing en daarna drie uur lang met onze handen op ons hoofd blijven staan. U kunt zich wel voorstellen dat wij er danig de pee in hadden, temeer daar Uw blad door de zuster werd geconfiskeert en wij de hele rest van de nacht en hinderlijk gegiegel op de zusterkamer hoorden. Vindt U nou niet dat wij meer inspraak moeten krijgen in de toegestane lectuur mogelijkheden op onze school?

Sehr geehrte Herren, gerade habe ich Ihren Artikel in MAD Nr. 10 gelesen, der von einem guten Restaurant handelt. Ich habe mich sehr darüber gefreut, daß jemand den Mut hat, dieses hochaktuelle Thema aufzugreifen. Ich darf hinzufägen, daß ich selbst Chef eines solchen guten Restaurants bin. Darum kann ich auch sagen: Nicht so schüchtern! Sie waren noch viel zu milde! Die Wahrheit ist noch grauenhafter!

Erwin P. (Adresse ist der Redaktion bekannt) O'troligt enfaldige Månson!

Jag har i min hand en nyutkommen bok vid namn "MAD liksom . . ." Och på dess baksida har jag funnit ett avskyvärt matematiskt fel. Det står att boken innehåller 90 % material som inte stått i blaskan MAD. Som den snusk- och MAD-kännare man är vet man att avsnittet "Flickor av Bob Clark stått i MAD för flera år sen. Detta avsnitt är på 22 sidor och boken på 128. Enligt ekvationen X 100 = 22 får man ett värde på 17,2 %, dvs boken innehåller endast 82,8 % nytt material. Om man dessutom drar bort bokens fem första sidor där det strängt taget inte står nånting kommer vi ner till den fruktansvärt låga siffran 80,1 %. Och inte alls 90 %. Förklara det om du kan, men slingra dig inte så där som du annars gor.

Stupide redaktie,

Heeft Alfred E. Neuman een tweelingbroer? Ik ben nl. iemand tegengekomen die sprekend op hem leek. Nadat omstanders mij weer op de been geholpen hadden, na mijn flauwte, heb ik geprobeerd een foto te maken van "Alfred", maar om de een of andere duistere reden stond mijn belichtingsmeter steeds op nul als ik in de richting van het ongure individu voor mij wees. Wat denkt U, was het een dubbelganger of Alfred zelf. Als het Alfred zelf was vond ik het kinderachtig van hem, dat hij alleen maar Italiaans wou spreken.

DEGENERATION GAP DEPT.

It will soon be "Academy Awards" time again, and you know what that means! Once again the Film Industry will be looking for a different way to stage the same old tired event in an effort to keep America from falling asleep. Well, we've got news for Hollywood! The problem is not how you stage the Academy Awards Show . . . it's what you give the "Awards" for! Since movies have changed so radically in the past few years, so should the categories! Who cares about "Best Cinematography-Black and White". . . or even "Best Picture"?! Why not recognize the really important elements in today's movies? To give you an idea of what we are talking about, here is

... Warren Beauty, for his unforgettable portrayal of the Sneaker Fetishist in "They Came To Rob Thom McKan's"...

... Lee Melvin, for his memorable characterization of the Sensitive Sadist in "Hell In The Pacific Palisades"...

... James Coldburn, for his inspired interpretation of the Compulsive Peeping Tom in "I Am Curious, But Yellow"...

And the winner is Ralph Flem, for his great performance as the Interior Decorator in "God Saye The Queens"...

Congratulations, Ralph . . . and I must say you did a magnificent acting job!

Acting?? Who was ACTING!?

Every film must have at least one "Sex Scene" nowadays! Since a "Sex Scene" is not always easy to fit in, our next category is for "BEST DIRECTOR OF A SEX SCENE THAT WAS CREATED OUT OF NOWHERE"! The nominees are:

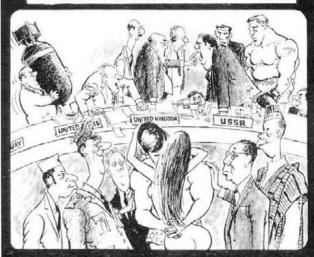

Kenneth Printz, for the imaginative "Sex-While-Swimming" scene he created for the film "Nanook And Olga", which starred those two late greats, Sandy Dent and Gary Farbel, both of whom, unfortunately, succumbed to pneumonia...

... Arnold Fleber, for the way he introduced a "Sex Scene" from out of nowhere during a debate in the United Nations General Assembly, in the picture, "Ivan and Shirley"...

... Mario Puccini, for his highly-sensitive "Sex Scene" when Columbus calls on Queen Isabella in "Chris and Issy"...

And the winner is Jacques LaStropp, for his exciting "Sex-At-The-Funeral" scene in "The Killing of George's Sister"...

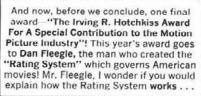

Congratulations, Jacques! I hear you're working on a new film!

That's right, Dustbin! It's

A RE-MAKE?! But the original is still doing fantastically . . . and it seems to have EVERYTHING!

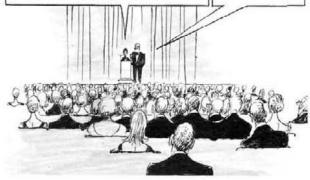

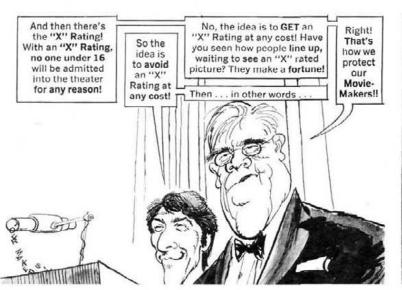

I'd be happy to, Dustbin! The idea of the Rating System is to protect our young people, and ALSO to protect our Movie-Makers! Here's how it works: A "G" Rating means the film is recommended for everyone, regardless of age. An "M" Rating means it's for Mature Audiences—Parental Discretion Advised! An "R" Rating means the film is restricted, and no one under 16 will be admitted unless accompanied by an Adult Guardian!

Well, what do you mean by an adult guardian?

I'd just like to add one thing: Motion Pictures bring pleasure to people . . . nothing more or less! Their mission, purely and simply, is to entertain! We do not feel that motion pictures can influence people in any strange ways, or make them act in strange ways, or make them do strange things!

E HIGH DIVER

'Twas a month before Christmas, and all through the store Each department was dripping with Yuletide decor;

The Muzak was blaring an out-of-tune carol And fake snow was falling on "Ladies' Apparel."

ARTIST: DON MARTIN

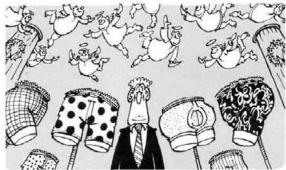

WRITER: FRANK JACOBS

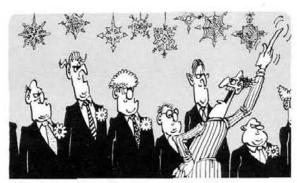

I'd flown many miles from the North Pole this day
To check on reports which had caused me dismay;
I'd come to this store for but one special reason:
To see for myself what went on at this Season.

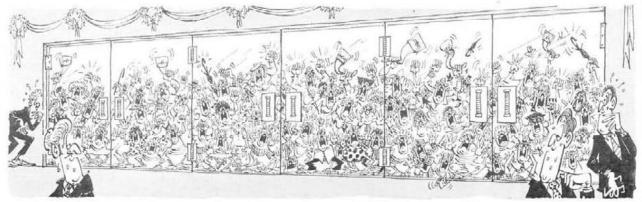

I hid in a corner and in a short while I saw the Store President march down an aisle; He shouted an order to "Turn the store tree on!" And also the "NOEL" in blinding pink neon.

Up high, grandly hanging from twin gold supports, Four hundred pink angels flew over "Men's Shorts;" And towering over the Rear Mezzanine— A 90-foot Day-Glow "Nativity Scene."

The clock on the wall said two minutes to nine;
The floorwalkers proudly all stood in a line;
I watched while the president smelled their carnations
Then called out his final command—"Man Your Stations!"

When out on the street there arose such a roar! It rang to the rafters and boomed through the store! It sounded exactly like street-repair drilling— Or maybe another big Mafia killing!

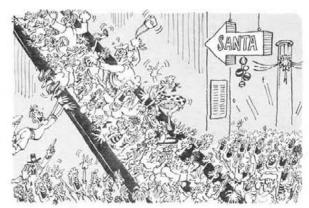

I looked to the doors, and there banging the glass Was a clamoring, shrieking, hysterical mass, And I felt from the tone of each scream and each curse That the "Spirit of Christmas" had changed for the worse.

The clock it struck nine and the door opened wide And that great human avalanche thundered inside; More fearsome than Sherman attacking Atlanta Came parents and kiddies with just one goal—"Santa!"

In front stormed the mothers, all brandishing handbags As heavy and deadly as 20-pound sandbags; With gusto they swung them, the better to smash ears Of innocent floorwalkers, buyers and cashiers.

Straight up to the Fifth Floor the mob penetrated And soon reached the room where the store Santa waited; I followed them closely, the better to see This bearded imposter who dared to play me.

He stood six-foot-five and weighed all of 130; He'd lost half his teeth and his costume was dirty; His beard dangled down like a wad of cheap cotton; His breath needed "Scope" and his "Ho-ho" was rotten.

Egged on by their parents, the kids had one aim:
To get to this man who was using my name;
They mobbed him and mauled him, the better to plead
For the presents they sought in their hour of greed.

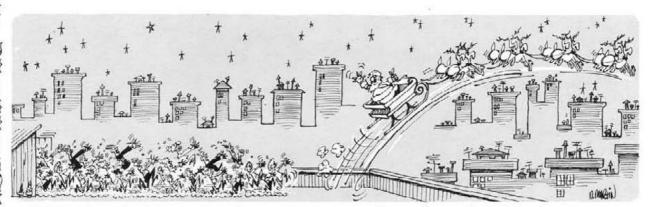

The President watched with a gleam in his eye
As he thought of the toys that the parents would buy;
Of all Christmas come-ons, this crowd would attest
That a visit to "Santa" was clearly the best.

It all was too much for my soul to condone
And I let out a most unprofessional moan;
The crowd turned around, and I'll say for their sake
That they knew in an instant I wasn't a fake.

"I've had it," I told them, "with fast-buck promoting, With gimmicks and come-ons and businessmen gloating; This garish display of commercialized greed Is so very UN-Christmas, it makes my heart bleed!"

With that, I departed and, shouting a farewell, Went barreling up an emergency stairwell; On reaching the roof, to my sleigh I went forth Where my reindeer were waiting to take me back North.

The crowd swarmed behind me to beg me to stay; Before they could speak, I was off in my sleigh; But I turned to exclaim as I flew from the mob— "Happy Christmas to all—I'm resigning my job!"

This article is dedicated to the proposition that all things are not created equal—not by today's manufacturers, anyway. But the American Consumer has an ally in his never-ending battle with poor craftsmanship, shoddy merchandise and Giant Economy Size Packages that are never more than half full...mainly, the Impartial Test Panels. #### Ground Meat Contains Ground

I truly enjoyed your recent article, "Most Hot Dogs Aren't Fit For Dogs" (CONDEMNER REPORTS, July 1969). I was shocked by what you found in the hot dogs you tested. I buy hamburger meat from my butcher for 89¢ a pound, and thanks to your article, I've now started examining it. I've found what looks like bone chips, sawdust, hair, and even dirt. What can I do about it?

BROOKLYN, N.Y. P.U.

Use a lot of ketchup and relish.

Price Puzzle

Which is actually cheaper, an 8 oz. tube of toothpaste for 59¢, a 10 oz. tube for 69¢, a 12 oz. tube for 79¢ or a full pound tube for 81.00?

Please do not send us any jokes or riddles. CR is not a humor magazine.

Executive Type Writes

In your August issue, you published the results of tests made on several portable typewriters, and our brand was one of the machines included in the report. You claimed you found a defect in our machine which you felt was a serious drawback, and therefore rated it "Unacceptable." As president of the Underglass Typewriter Company, I wish to point out that the sample you tested was obviously not typical of the machines we produce here at Underglass. I certainly hope that you will give us another chance and test a more typical example of our Model 7 Portable Typewriter-one that ten of our top engineers are building by hand especially for CR right now.

DAYTON, OHIO CHARLES ELITE, JR. PRESIDENT UNDERGLASS CORP.

Mr. Elite's letter, which was obviously typed on one of his company's machines, only served to point out that the glaring defect we found in the Model 7 Portable is present in other models as well. As you can plainly see by the excerpt we have reproduced below, the "period" looks funny.

especially for OR right now.

Once Is Enough

New Toy, Not Recommended For Kids ...

Sally Suicide, the new doll that can 'take her own life 12 ways,' has earned CR's NOT-ACCEPTABLE—ICKY POO rating at press time. This new entry from Marx Bros. Toys doesn't live up to its promise, as our disappointed panel will attest: the rope Sally Suicide is supposed to hang herself with broke on the first attempt, the drugs supplied are hardly enough to induce nausea let alone suicide, and the seven story doll house that she's supposed to jump from isn't high enough for anything more than two broken legs!

If the performance of this doll could only live up to its potential, Marx Bros. would have a winner here.

Sally Suicide: "Disappointing"

Thank You. Kind Readers

CR is certainly proud of its readers who take the time to sit down and write us about differences of opinion based on their own findings. It helps us get a better picture of things to watch for when we test new products in the future. Last month we didn't think to check out the "waterproof" casing on the new Brenner Electro Toothbrush, believing in this day and age that a "waterproof" label means just that. To our surprise, many readers found out differently, and a lot of credit must be given them for interrupting their week of mourning to write us.

Brenner Electric Toothbrush:

A Note From The Checkmate Toaster Company

Gentlemen:

Thank you for your invitation to have our latest Checkmate tested by your panel of impartial judges. However, we could not get our latest model, the Mock III, out of production in time for last month's deadline, and it would be a waste to have sent you the Mock II since it is being called back.

We trust that you will include a run-down of our new model this issue. A sample of the Checkmate Mock III is enclosed.

Thank you,

William Burns President Checkmate Corp.

Ed. Note: As per Mr. Burns' request, a complete rundown of the Checkmate Mock III is included in this issue.

Fowoll-up

An up-dating of previous up-to-date reports

During the past few years, CR has informed its readers to be aware of the "water content" percentage listed on the labels of packaged hams.

Many meat packing houses are injecting water into the hams, raising the weight considerably. The consumer is then paying 'ham' rates for water.

The problem has been faced by town officials of two different locations

Mayor Heinz Wipfler of Wagsville, North Carolina, is getting back at the meat packers by injecting 'ham' into the local water supply, while Mayor Eric Wessel of Chipneil, Arizona, has upped the water tax from '$23 a year to $3000, making the cost of water in the area more expensive than ham, thereby discouraging the practice.

Mayor Eric Wessel

Mayor Heinz Wipfler

CR salutes both of these men with their constructive solutions to the problem.

THE PURPOSES OF CONDEMNER REPORTS are to provide consumers with information and counsel, the publishers with money, and the manufacturers with ulcers.

PRODUCTS TESTED by the Condemner Reports' staff are determined by the needs of the staff since they are paid low salaries and depend on free testing samples in order to live.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES are low considering how much you'll save in one year's time by taking our advice and not falling for false bargains and deceptive pricing. Rates: $6.00 for one year, $15.00 for two years, $25.00 for three years.

A Change In Ratings

No one is perfect. While we come close to perfection here at CR, we too can slip once in a while. And when we do, well, you can bet your boots we'll own up to it and do what's necessary to rectify things even if it means changing a rating.

This is the case with the 1969 Corvex II which was originally listed as "Not Acceptable — Awful" in the new car review 3 months ago. We now change this rating to "Acceptable—Fantastic".

Our Thanks

CR wishes to thank all those who sent us congratulations on our 33rd year of publication. Special thanks go to General Motors Corporation who gave every member of our staff a beautiful new Corvex II.

Sewing Machines

There are 84 models of sewing machines to choose from, and of these, 10 are the leading sellers, representing over 70% of the total sale. However, CR found that although these models are very easy to operate, they are extremely difficult to test. Instead, CR chose 10 models more difficult to operate but easier to test, and, to make things even less complicated, will review only 5 of those 10. And always with the interests and needs of you, the consumer, in mind.

CR's Test

While it is true that women are by far the greatest users of home sewing machines, it is the men who are mostly employed as professional tailors in both big and small businesses. For this reason, CR used 5 male panelists to test the 5 models chosen, but each was given typical female sewing problems: dresses, skirts, blouses, culottes, aprons, etc.

Test Results

After exhaustive tests where the male panelists had to literally "live" female wear, CR found that of the 5 machines tested, 4 operated normally, one acted strangely. This was a better percentage than the panelists of whom 3 acted normally, 2 strangely.

Shock

In any test of this sort, shock potential is always a consideration. Of the 5 machines, CR found all to be insulated against shock. However, each of the panelists were shocked at the ridiculous prices asked for the machines by their respective manufacturers, and 2 of the panelist's wives were shocked when their husbands ran off with each other.

RATINGS OF SEWING MACHINES

ACCEPTABLE - GOOD

SINGA SONGALA List price marked at $457.85, but CR shopper was able to purchase it for $29.95 at a discount store. This machine offered forward and reverse stitching only, but after being dropped by clumsy panelist, it was found that it could also sew zig-zag.

PFARFF SONGARA List priced marked at $29.95, but CR shopper purchased it for $247.95 at fancy uptown store before being fired. We found this imported imitation of the Singa Songa to be identical in every way except for case, motor, controls, performance and other secondary considerations.

ACCEPTABLE - NOT SO GOOD

ZOLTAN ZANDAR This was a deluxe machine with automatic button-holer, trimming device, pattern tracer, embroidery control and watermelon de-pitter. The performance of all special functions was flawless, but only when used simultaneously. For normal mending, it wasn't worth a darn. (CR rates that last gag UNACCEPTABLE).

ACCEPTABLE - PRETTY BAD

GIVALT 100 List price $9.00. Obviously an economy model with no chrome, no frills, and no extras. It featured only a plain, black case housing 3 needles, a spool of thread and a stereo recording of a well-operating sewing machine.

NOT ACCEPTABLE - ROTTEN

CHECKMATE MOCK III No price given. This machine would not sew forward or in reverse or at all. It had one adjustment labeled "light-dark" which might refer to the color of the material to be sewed. But then again, it might not. While there was no shock danger, the machine did heat up considerably after a few minutes and "popped up" the material inserted for sewing.

SCOTCH WHISKEY

In response to the unusual amount of inquiries (from CR panelists), we herewith disclose our findings from a recent test conducted on CR's tax deductible testing yacht, Shnopps II. It was the first test scoring 100% attendance of the CR panel, many bringing secretaries with them to take notes. The yacht was anchored 3 miles off the New Jersey shore to avoid Coast Guard restrictions as well as suspicious wives. A case each of the 8 generally accepted "top" scotches, 6 "second rung" brands, and 3 "swill" labels were employed along with a case of the 3 leading anti-freezes.

THE TEST

Testing started precisely at 9 AM like any normal work day. When panelist could not make the distinction between scotch and the anti-freeze, he was excused from further testing.

Results were pouring in as fast as scotch pouring out. By 11 AM more than 45% of the scotches had been tested and more than 33% of the panel were in love with their secretaries.

By 3 PM 70% of the scotch was drunk as were 80% of the panel, and the owner of a small runabout had performed 34 marriages as a qualified sea captain. (CR tests Divorces in Sept. Issue.)

By 5 PM all 20 cases of scotch and anti-freeze had been consumed, and many things were said to the boss that wouldn't have been under normal conditions. (CR tests New Jobs, P. 51)

RATINGS OF SCOTCH WHISKEYS

TEST RESULTS The top 5 choices, as recorded by the panel, are as follows:

ACCEPTABLE - ZOWIE

JOHNNY WALKUP Xsellent flavour . . . colorful animalz

PRESSECTIONE SSmmoooooothhh . . . handy cans stead of bopples

SIT CHIVAS Vary lite . . . plescent . . . I love you . . . marry me . . . doll

ACCEPTABLE - YESH INDEED

HAIG ROAD Oky, not grate, but oky . . . know what I mean . . . It's oky, but not grate . . . no need to get mad, bushter . . . sho it's not oky . . . you right, I wrong . . . who carsh anyhow? Ish free . . .

STRETCH SOCKS for men

Stretch socks can help stretch your budget. They are not only longer wearing, but because some models have a great deal of stretchability, you can put both feet into one sock, thus making a pair last even longer.

CR's test

In CR's rather grueling tests, the socks were soaked for one week in a solution of milk and butter to determine their stain resistance.

Then, as a 'mud' substitute, a mixture of flour and eggs in thick, gooey consistency was poured into the testing vat.

Finally, to simulate the effect of hot machine drying or high temperature summer wear, the socks were then placed in an oven pre-heated to 400 degrees and left for 30

Test Results

None of the socks tested held up under CR's rugged test conditions stated above, but several pair not only smelled tempting, but tasted delicious! (Recipe available on request.)

RATINGS

ACCEPTABLE—EXCELLENT

OUTERWOVEN 898, As stated above (Test Results), the left sock of this pair was superior to any sock tested, including the right one from the same manufacturer. When purchasing, explain to salesman that you dance as if you had "two left feet" and see if he won't sell you the socks accordingly.

BAN-LARD The "two left feet" ploy will obviously not work on the superior right sock of this manufacturer. CR suggests you buy BOTH brands, break up the pairs as stipulated, and giving the worthless matchings to friends.

ACCEPTABLE-POOR

JERKY THOROBRED These stretch socks contained far too much stretch; one panelist pulled it up so high he didn't have to wear pants.

NOT ACCEPTABLE—ECCH

BURLYTON These socks were not color fast. The colored ones came out white after only 3 washings. The white ones came out clear after only one washing.

MANLY These socks had a severe tendency to shrink. This could be circumvented by washing while wearing, but this may prove difficult for those using automatic washers. One panelist approved of their long wear without washing, but we didn't want to get close to him for further comment.

HAND-HUGGERS This brand of socks was the worst tested. They did not stretch at all. However, they were very warm because they were made of leather and were fur lined with individual places for each toe. CR strongly advised against summer wear.

JERKY THOROBRED: No pants needed

HAND HUGGERS: Not recommended for summer wear

Magazines

Because of the increasing number of magazines available and the decreasing amount of time average consumers can allot to reading periodicals, CR has decided to rate magazines so as to weed out the extraneous from the superfluous.

RATINGS

Top choices, as recorded by panel, are as follows:

COMEDY MAGAZINES-ACCEPTABLE

TIME This weekly shows how to be very funny at everyone else's expense. Cute phrases are used to condemn books, blast plays, pan movies, wreck lives, undermine governments, etc.

SERIOUS MAGAZINES-ACCEPTABLE

MAD This hard-hitting, never-crack-a-smile periodical will appeal to those who like their reading matter straight and to the point with no humor, frivolity or satire to interfere with the somber content.

EDUCATIONAL MAGAZINES-ACCEPTABLE

READER'S DIGEST This very informative monthly enabled our test reader to give I erself a heart transplant: find God; hum her headaches away; and learn to live with and love a sadist-just in the first 10 pages alone!

SPECIAL MAGAZINES-UNACCEPTABLE

CONDEMNER'S REPORT An un-biased panel of readers who had never encountered this periodical before, thought the magazine to be a "comedy" entry at first reading due to the ridiculous procedure of purchasing new products only to wreck them with insane testing devices. Several were offended by the magazine's policy of advising people on how to spend their "hard-earned money". All told, CR has no choice but to award an UNACCEPTABLE rating to Condemner's Re-
